

$1 EGGS BY THANKSGIVING

Dealers Predict Rapid Increase in Price Unless Conditions Improve.

It is likely that strictly fresh eggs may be selling from 75 cents to $1 a dozen in Boston by Thanksgiving. Unless conditions improve this is altogether probable. There is a scarcity of all grades in Boston and no likelihood of any improvement in the situation unless there is a protracted warm spell of weather, which would encourage the hens to get together and boost the supply.

The best grade of eggs is now selling for from 55 cents to 60 cents a dozen, the price fluctuating every day but with a steady upward trend generally. The amount of eggs in storage here is considerably less than a year ago with no indication that there will be any material increase in the quantity.

Secretary Alton E. Briggs of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, said last night that this was true all over the country, due largely to the fears of the traders that antitrust legislation may be passed, as has been done in some states, that with the feeling of uncertainty the storage men are not disposed to tie up their money.

Storage eggs are now selling for from 30 to 33 cents a dozen, and with the supply said to be constantly dwindling there is reason to believe that the price of these will go up. New York seems to be an exception to the general rule that the supply there has been large. The state health department at Albany reported Saturday that there were 739,084 cases of eggs in storage in the state on September 1, a total of 22,172,520 dozen. This is approximately 30 eggs for every man, woman and child in New York state.

Last year there was a long warm stretch of weather at this season and the prices were much lower than now. The large supply of fresh eggs also caused a break in the prices of the storage eggs but no such luck seems to be in sight for the Boston housewives this year. A sudden cold period would send the prices soaring, but in any event the prospect is for a further increase in cost.

DIVIDEND CUT NOT NECESSARY

Mr. Mellen Says New Haven Failed to Back Him Up--War Between Boston and New York Bank- ers Blamed for Plight

That the New York New Haven & Hartford railroad could have maintained its former 8 per cent dividend rate instead of cutting it to six per cent and that all its turmoil was caused by a fight between New York and Boston bankers, are statements made by Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven, in an interview printed yesterday in the Boston Post.

Mr. Mellen predicts that government ownership of railroads is not far distant. He was glad to leave the road, he adds, declaring that the men in control sacrificed him to public clamor raised by the long fight.

No receivership was necessary for the Boston & Maine he asserts. With the money needlessly spent in building the Westchester system, he declares it would have been possible to have a four track road from Boston to Providence and electrify the entire road between Boston and New York.

The house of Morgan told him to mind his own business—that they would furnish the money without advice—says Mr. Mellen. He characterizes the stockholders Protective Committee as nothing but a marionette. He declares that no man is worth a salary of more than $25,000 a year.

Development of Monopoly

Reviewing the ten eventful years of his presidency of the New Haven road, Mr. Mellen said in part:

"Practically all the turmoil that has surrounded every move made by the New Haven in the last ten years has been stirred up by Boston bankers who were desirous of controlling the New England railway field. Of course there developed additional opposition in the case of the Boston & Maine acquisition; many fair and honest people fought our plans of expansion because they were honestly opposed to it.

"But the people who started the fight, who fought most bitterly because our plans interfered with those, and who kept the fight going when everybody else was tired, were the banking interests of Boston who control the trolley lines in and around the city.

"The New Haven, long before I took charge had been in the money business because the electrical lines are natural feeders of traffic to the main road. I simply pursued the same policy of developing this feeding system; and in acquiring additional lines I stepped on the toes of the people who control the Boston Elevated, the Massachusetts Electric Co., and the Boston & Worcester Street Railway.

"These Boston bankers through their Stone & Webster organization, have gone into the electric light, power and transportation business in all parts of the country; and they were determined that in other organizations should have any large part of New England trolleys.

"They fought us tooth and nail; they raised the cry of monopoly against the New Haven, although at the same time they were trying to monopolize the field for themselves.

"I worked to develop this policy of expansion because I believed in it. I believed that the elimination of duplicate managements and expenses of

PILGRIMAGE TO DOVER

Nobles of The Alhambra in Massachusetts Come There on Thanksgiving Day.

The Nobles of The Alhambra in Massachusetts will make their first grand pilgrimage into the State of New Hampshire, Thursday, Nov. 27 (Thanksgiving Day), when the degree of the order of The Alhambra will be worked on a large class of candidates for Castle Caravan No. 30, of Dover.

The candidates will come from Dover, Portsmouth, Manchester, Somersworth and other Southern New Hampshire cities, and will probably number about 100. Castle Caravan, of which Major Frank H. Keenan is the grand commander, has invited Granada Caravan No. 3 of Boston to do the ritualistic work, and at last Sunday's meeting of the local caravan the invitation was accepted. Castle Caravan was instituted several months ago by D. S. C. Hugh P. McNally and Granada Caravan, and the most cordial relations exist therefore between these two bodies.

Castle Caravan has made elaborate plans to entertain the visitors from Boston. The degree will be worked in Redmen's hall and the banquet and social sessions will be in the City Hall.

The degree team from Boston will number at least forty nobles and a large number of nobles of the Granada caravan will accompany the team.

Grand Commander Walter A. White of the Boston Caravan, will be in charge of the work. At last Sunday's meeting a committee was appointed to make the arrangements for the pilgrimage. The Boston visitors will be the guests of the New Hampshire Alhambra all day Thanksgiving Day, returning home about midnight.

ADMITTS KNOWING MEN NAMED

Miss Mason in $75,000 Prom- ise Suit Refuses to Heed All But 13 Queries.

Miss Helen Marie Mason, 20 years old, daughter of Mrs. Frank Mason of 160 Longwood avenue, Boston, in answers filed by her in the superior court at interrogatories put to her by George H. Caldwell, 75 years old, of the Back Bay, in connection with her $75,000 suit against him for breach of promise to marry, admits she knew one Harold C. Blood, but refuses to tell her relations with him or with Joe Markell, with "a southern fellow," or with one Joseph S. Hann.

She refuses to answer all but 13 of the 40 questions put to her on advice of counsel, unless ordered to do so by the court. The questions she fails to answer ask her chiefly about her relations with these men.

In the 13 answers she says that after his promise to marry her she refrained at Caldwell's solicitation from pursuing her study to be a nurse. She says, "He said he wanted me to marry him and pitiful and do the work then content that he did not want me to go into hospital by me. At his request and on his promise to marry me and to please him I gave up my contemplated study." She denies she was studying to be a nurse in June, 1912.

WAR CLOUDS ARE GATHERING

President Holds Conference With Foreign Relations Committee.-- Mexican Situation Rapidly Reaching a Climax

Washington, Nov. 9.—Foregoing his usual custom of banishing official business on Sunday, President Wilson worked practically the whole day on the Mexican problem. He did not go to church, remaining indoors during the morning. Later he summoned Senators Borah and McChesney, Republican members of the senate foreign relations committee, and spent nearly two hours with them in a general discussion of the situation. Tonight, the President conferred at length with Secretary Bryan.

From the way the President's callers talked the situation is rapidly approaching a climax, and some definite developments are expected immediately. Officially no copy of the statement of Provisional President Huerta to the diplomatic corps last night, and been received, nor had the formal reply to the American demand that Huerta resign arrived. That the United

MARINE AT THE NAVAL PRISON COMMITS SUICIDE

Shoots Himself While On Duty Guarding Prisoner--Latter Under Suspicion, But Cleared By Board of Inquiry.

Private Thomas Johnson of the Marine Guard at the naval prison, committed suicide on Sunday forenoon, and for a time a prisoner at the prison was under suspicion of having been connected with his death. For Johnson took a rather sensational method of disposing of himself, at the same time leaving the prisoner in a bad place.

He had gone but a short distance when he was held up by another guard at the muzzle of a gun, and he hurriedly told his story. The guard went back with him and on finding Johnson's body, returned with the prisoner to the naval prison where he was locked up while Johnson's death was being investigated.

The officer of the day immediately sent out a detail and the body of Johnson was brought back to the prison. He was still breathing and lived over an hour, but never recovered consciousness. This fact of course left the prisoner open to a grave suspicion.

A board of inquiry was at once ordered and evidence was brought out to show that Johnson had been despondent for some time and that he had threatened to do away with himself for some time past, this together with the position of the wound etc., clearly exonerated the prisoner of all blame.

Johnson enlisted three years ago in Chicago and he has a mother now in Henseller, Ind.

Johnson was doing guard duty about the prison and he was detailed to escort one of the prisoners to the spring, some little distance from the prison, the water of which is used for drinking purposes. While the prisoner, whose name was not given out by the officers at the prison, was bundling over the spring filling the pail, when he heard a shot immediately back of him.

He turned and was horrified to see Johnson pitch forward on his face, with the still smoking revolver in his right hand, while a blood spurting wound in his head showed at a glance what had happened.

The prisoner, thoroughly frightened started on the run back to the prison.

INDIAN WEDDING FOR SOCKALEXIS

Marathon Runner and Daugh- ter of One of Head Tribes- men Married.

Oldtown, Me., Nov. 9.—Penobscot Indians from all over the state gathered in Oldtown today to attend the wedding ceremony and feast of Andrew Sockalexis, to Pauline Shay, daughter of Sebatis Shay, one of the head tribesmen. "Clad in the regalia of eagle feathers and beaded buckskins of former days, old chiefs danced the time honored wedding dances of the tribe in celebration of the nuptials of the young pair.

Hunches of venison, bear steaks and choice cuts of all the game that go to make a Penobscot feast were set before the hundreds of guests. Never before in the history of the reservation has there ever been such a feast.

The ceremony, performed in St. Ann's Catholic church by the Rev. J. J. Rice, means the joining of two of the most prominent Indian families in the state.

The Sockalexis family has long been noted for its athletic young men, of whom the groom and his brother Lewis, once a ball player, are the only ones who have been known to the nation at large. All the other members of the family have been locally noted for their prowess in all the sports of their tribe. Andrew has long been a student of Indian lore, and it was at his suggestion that the old customs were resorted to for today.

The Shay family has long furnished executive heads for the tribe, as well as representatives for the Legislature of the state of Maine. Several governors of the Penobscots have come from the Shay family, more than once has a member of the House of Representatives at Augusta been proud to bear the name of Shay.

FINE IMPOSED FOR STABBING

Henry Mayo Pleads Guilty to Aggravated Assault and Pays $75 and Costs.

A session of the district court was held this Monday morning at which time Henry Mayo was arraigned, charged with an aggravated assault upon Simon Cronin, a shipmate on the U. S. S. Hamblin on Friday evening last. He pleaded guilty and Judge Torrey imposed a fine of $75 with costs of $8.12.

John Parks of Washington street was arraigned on the charge of illegally keeping liquor for sale. He pleaded not guilty, but on the evidence presented he was fined $25 and costs of $5.00.

Henry Kennison was arraigned, charged with drunkenness. He was sentenced to two months in jail with costs of $5.00, the jail sentence being suspended during good behavior.

The heavy downpour of rain on Sunday evening gave the asphalted streets a good cleaning.

CONCORD LETTER

Concord, Nov. 10. The expected happened on Saturday, and after granting all concerned in the case all the time they desired to present to him documents and arguments, Governor Samuel D. Feltner granted the petition of the state of New York for the extradition from New Hampshire of Harry K. Thaw, indicted in New York for conspiracy to murder from the Mattewan asylum for the insane. Thaw's lawyers this week will file with Judge Aldrich of the federal court a petition for an amendment to the writ of habeas corpus which they asked at the time of Thaw's arrest in New Hampshire and this action probably will inaugurate a long course of litigation over Thaw's status and rights.

A worthy memorial service for the late John M. Mitchell, judge of the superior court, was held at the court room in the local county building on Friday afternoon. Judge Robert N. Chamberlain presided and appropriate resolutions being offered by Nathaniel B. Martin, Esq., and seconded by a long and distinguished array of speakers, including Chief Justice Robert C. Pike of the superior court, Chief Justice E. H. Parsons of the supreme court, Hon. James P. Tuttle of Manchester, attorney general; Hon. Edwin C. Eastman of Exeter, ex-attorney general; Hon. Oliver B. Branch of Manchester, Hon. William M. Chase of Concord, Hon. Stephen H. Jewett of Laconia, Judge John Kivel of the superior court bench, Edgar J. Rich, general solicitor of the Boston & Maine road, William A. Foster, Esq., of this city, Gen. Frank B. Bitterer, and others.

At a meeting of the Franklin Pierce state commission, held in this city on Friday, Henry Augustus Lokenan of New York city was invited to submit a model for a statue to be placed in the state house yard near the Memorial arch. Mr. Lokenan is a native of Virginia, educated in New York and Paris, author of many important works in Boston, New York, Montreal, St. Louis and other cities, and recommended to the New Hampshire commission by our own state's greatest sculptor, Daniel C. French, whose other engagements forbid his own consideration of the work.

Renewed rumors that with the opening of the great railroad repair shops at Haverhill, Mass., the other shops on the Boston & Maine system would be shut down or greatly reduced in capacity are once more denied emphatically by those in authority. In this city, for instance, some 500 men who have been working nights and extra shifts in order to gain the regular experience will be transferred to Haverhill, but the regular Concord force will be kept at work on full time.

The governor and council on Friday retired at his own request Colonel Paul F. Hildridge of Keene, commanding officer of the First Infantry of the New Hampshire National Guard, and promoted Lieutenant Colonel Harley B. Day of this city to be colonel. Colonel Hildridge retires with the rank of brigadier general and the respect and esteem of all the men who have served under him in the state's militia. Major Michael J. Healy of Manchester became lieutenant colonel and Captain Eugene T. Sherburne of the same city became major.

A new shift has been made in the plan for the readjustment of office rooms at the state house and now it is the license commission which goes up in the elevator to the top floor, the department of agriculture remaining where it has been since the addition was made to the capital and the board of control taking the present license commission quarters.

Major Arthur H. Chase, the new clerk of the supreme court, entered upon his duties in that capacity at the November term. The supreme court rooms are in the state library building and the library itself was in the beginning the state law library, so that the combination in Major Chase of the offices of state librarian and clerk of the court is natural and easy. A bill was introduced in the legislature of 1913 to combine the office of law reporter and clerk of the court, but it failed of passage, and a somewhat similar end of economy now has been attained through the appointment of Major Chase to succeed the late Amos J. Shortell.

When Joseph G. Chandler of Dallas, Texas, who has been visiting here his father, former United States Senator William B. Chandler, met at the Eagle hotel this week Sheriff William A. Drew, of Coon county, who is making a quite extended stay here as one of the official candidates of Harry K. Thaw, the manager of the first football team at Dartmouth college shook hands with one of his players and they exchanged congratulations over the season's results.

The eleven which Mr. Chandler managed and on which Mr. Drew played was organized in the fall of 1889 and was unable to arrange any games with other college teams. But in the fall of 1891, when Mr. Drew was captain of the eleven, the long series of contests with Amherst was begun, Dartmouth winning at Hanover and playing a game at Springfield, Mass., on Thanksgiving day. In the fall of 1893 Mr. Drew and his mates beat McGill University of Montreal, but lost to Harvard 53-0. Sheriff Drew graduated in June, 1893, and therefore was not one of the eleven which Yale beat 113-0 at Hanover that fall, the first and only time a "natally eleven" from New Haven has come to New Hampshire.

If the city directory is a safe criterion Concord has been growing steadily since the census of 1910 was taken; for the new edition just issued adds 2,320 names to those printed in 1913 and strikes out only 1,583. Among the subtractions are 326 due to death and 601 to removal from the city. State Chemist C. L. Howard was called to the north by town of Henniker this week to investigate water supply conditions there and suggest means for their improvement. The proposition, which looked good to Professor Howard, is to take water from a 26-acre pond on Craney hill, 1,200 feet above sea level.

Saturday afternoon the Governor nominated Judge William A. Plummer of the superior court to be a judge of the supreme court; Harry Hingham of Littleton to be judge of probate for Hiram county; and Alden C. Kelley to be justice of the Hiram district court; and appointed Joseph L. Schumann of Greenland to be license inspector. It is believed at the state house that Councilor William H. Sawyer will be named to fill the vacancy on the superior bench caused by the promotion of Judge Plummer.

THE MERRY MILE
She walked a merry mile with me
Just as the day was ending;
A child was in the Autumn air,
The rain like dew, upon her hair
In thy dress depending;
Wild winds glistered in the rearing sea,
The spray splashed in our faces;
We walked together she and I
And now and then she paused to tie
Her dainty silk shoe laces.

We walked a merry mile or two
Nor cared where we were going;
Her look was glad, her cheeks were red
The clouds hung darkly overhead,
The wind was briskly blowing;
My heart was light my cares were few,
Her youthful beauty thrilled me,
And I was happy to forget
That bath my feet were getting wet,
And that the weather chilled me.

She walked with me a merry mile,
Just as the day was dying;
The rain like dew lay on her hair
And happily we lingered where
The spray was wildly flying;
She chilled me with her winsome smile
The wind turned crisp and crispier,
But all that happened was that I
Caught cold, which is the reason why
I now talk in a whisper.

INDIGESTION, GAS OR SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Time III "Pape's Diapain" Makes
Your Upset, Bloating Stomach
Feel Fine in Five Minutes

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in Five Minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapain the largest stomach selling regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into ataborn lumps, you belch gas, and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches, breath foul, tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Pape's Diapain comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. (A truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy in its harmlessness.) A large fifty cent case of Pape's Diapain will give you a hundred dollars worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. Its worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick sour, upset stomach during the day or night. It's the quickest, surest, and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

TWO BIG WRESTLING MATCHES TONIGHT

Bill Dryden opens his wrestling season this evening when he will have his first match at Freeman's hall. Dryden who last spring purchased the big Dragon farm on the Greenland road, has been a very busy man all summer and this fall, and it was not until now that he thought that he could afford to take the time from his farm to take on any matches. He has been working hard every day and should be in fine condition and in the past week he has been doing some mat work.

He has got his work cut out for him this evening. In the Austrian Young Slogger, who came to this country a few weeks ago looking for matches. The Austrian is a middle weight and has a big reputation in Europe where for two years he was the amateur champion of all Europe.

Another star bout will be that of Cyclops Burns and Walter Boneha the light heavy weight champion of Poland. This looks like the best match ever pulled off in this city. Everybody knows Burns' ability and Boneha came over to this country with the express purpose of getting a match with Burns. He arrived here a few weeks ago and as soon as Burns arrived from the west the match was made and through Dryden's influence it will be staged in this city.

A big crowd is expected and the Greenland neighbors of Dryden have arranged for a special late car after the match.

FLEET GETTING ROYAL WELCOME IN ITALY

MALTA, Nov. 9.—The Wyoming, the flagship of the United States Atlantic fleet, under command of Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, steamed into port today and was heartily cheered by great throngs of spectators gathered on the battlements. The Wyoming is the largest and most powerful warship yet seen at Malta. She will remain here until Tuesday next, when she will proceed to Naples.

A large number of the crew swarmed ashore within a short time after the arrival of the battleship and were met by groups of British sailors and soldiers, the men fraternizing most cordially and making the streets lively. The Americans expressed themselves as feeling quite at home. They began at once to enjoy the visit, because the American government had particularly requested that the authorities at the different ports which the fleet is visiting dispense with any formal entertainment, the cruise being in no wise ceremonial or official, but educational.

The men will be allowed as much liberty of time as possible so that they may utilize their opportunities to the best advantage. The entertainments arranged here are only on a very small scale.

The men left aboard the Wyoming spent their time in cleaning ship, which didn't seem to need it as it looked sleek and span in spite of the long voyage. The American bluejackets are characterized as the smartest looking set that ever came to Malta. Commander Todd said that the voyage was uneventful. Since leaving Hampton Roads the fleet had been favored with beautiful weather and a large part of the time was spent in carrying out tactical and other evolutions. The colors and hospital ships remained with the battleships, which coaled several times.

Off Gibraltar the battleships separated, proceeding to various designated ports according to the program, so as to arrive at their respective destinations this morning.

Springing to attention from their work, the bluejackets saluted the flag as it was lowered at the sunset gun to night, while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and the British anthem. During the impressive ceremony the Wyoming was surrounded by hundreds of interested sightseers.

Rear Admiral Badger and his other superior officers have been made honorary members of the Union Club and the Casino, the latter being the leading club of the Maltese. Tomorrow the commander-in-chief and other officers and the American consul will lunch with the Governor of Malta, Gen. Sir Henry MacLeod Leslie Rundle, at the palace.

There will be a massed band concert on Monday, which will be attended by Gov. Rundle and all the British officers and the American officers.

OUCH! LAME BACK RUB PAIN AWAY

Rub Backache away with a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil"

Kidney's cause Backache? No! They have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain. Listen! Your backache is caused by lumbago, sciatica or a strain, and the quickest relief is soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Put it right on the aching or tender spot, and instantly the pain, soreness, stiffness and lameness disappears. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist and rub it up. A moment after it is applied you'll wonder what became of the backache, sciatica or lumbago pain. "St. Jacobs Oil" is harmless and doesn't burn the skin. It's the only application to rub on a weak, lame or painful back, or for lumbago, sciatica, neuritis, rheumatism, sprains or a strain.

with the duty of welcoming the American battleships to this port, visited the captains of the Florida and Arkansas this afternoon.

The mayor of Naples and many prominent citizens also boarded the warships and extended to the visitors a hearty greeting.

The Italian flagship Emanuele Filiberto arrived here today to greet the American warships.

Many of the American sailors were given shore leave. A large contingent left in the evening for Rome and another went to Florence.

Genoa, Italy, Nov. 9.—A cordial greeting was given by the authorities and the inhabitants of Genoa to the American battleships Connecticut and Kansas when they arrived here today.

Marseilles, Nov. 9.—As they arrived today the Vermont and Ohio saluted the French flag and the batteries on shore replied. Crowds greeted the American ships.

Villefranche, France, Nov. 9.—The American battleships Utah and Delaware arrived here today and took up their moorings after exchanging salutes with the shore batteries.

NAVAL TUGS SAIL

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 9.—Heavily armed and provisioned for a long journey at sea, the naval tugs Patuxent and Patapon sailed Saturday for the Gulf of Mexico with orders to call at Key West for further orders. They put to sea at 2 o'clock and are expected to make a record trip down the coast.

Both tugs have been equipped with three rapid-fire three-pounders, mounted on their forward decks. They carry 3000 rounds of ammunition apiece, and the crews have been armed with army pistols. Their bunkers are overloaded with coal. Provisions for three months were taken aboard. Officers admit they have been put on a war footing.

WHAT THE SPIDER INDICATED.

When Mark Twain, in his early days, was editor of a Missouri paper, a superstitious subscriber wrote him, saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and asking him whether that was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist wrote him this answer and printed it.

"Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over your paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store; spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterwards."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

MARINE CORPS TO HAVE ADVANCE BASE EXERCISES

By direction of Secretary Daniels of the Navy, Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, is preparing a schedule for the advance base exercises to be held in conjunction with the Marine Corps early in January. A force of about two thousand marines will leave the Philadelphia Navy Yard on board the transports Perle and Hancock for Culebra, Porto Rico, where they will pass several weeks in the actual operation of the mines, torpedoes and searchlights and other advance base equipment. The Atlantic fleet will convey the marine transports to Culebra after which the battleships will proceed to Guantanamo for the customary winter exercises. On the trip from Philadelphia to Culebra the battleships will take the same precautions as if war had been declared and a hostile fleet were in proximity.

After passing several months in Porto Rico the bulk of the marines will return to the Philadelphia navy yard. A small detachment, however, may be sent to the Pensacola yard, to be used as a nucleus for the eventual establishment of an advance base outfit on the Gulf Coast. Mr. Daniels has decided that the advance base outfit on the Atlantic Coast will be retained at Philadelphia, although a similar expeditionary force will be built up at Pensacola. To provide marines for this purpose a gradual reduction has been made in the officers and men of the Marine Corps in the Philippines. The joint army and navy maneuvers arranged for next February, to test the defenses at the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal, have been postponed for a year because the Coast Artillery forces at the Atlantic end of the waterway will not be completed before 1915 and the officials of the War Department suggested to Mr. Daniels that the tests be deferred until the forts were entirely completed.

Advanced Naval Base at Pensacola

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy will go next week to Pensacola, Fla., to inspect the navy yard and surrounding reservation there with the view to the establishment of an advanced naval base there. Experts who have investigated conditions at Pensacola have reported favorably on the site. Moreover, the board of inspections for shore stations in its latest report, now before Secretary Daniels, says Pensacola is the best and only site on the Gulf of Mexico for a naval station of the first class, and that such a station adequately protected "is most desirable in peace and absolutely necessary to success of the fleet in time of war." For some years past operations at the Pensacola yard have been unimportant, but naval experts recall the extensive use to which it was put during the Spanish War. Secretary Daniels in discussing the Pensacola problem declared that the establishment of an advance base on the Florida coast of the Gulf of Mexico would in no manner diminish the importance of Philadelphia as an advance base. He reiterated his previous declaration that the approaching opening of the Panama Canal makes an advance base on the Gulf of Mexico imperative. Before returning Mr. Roosevelt will visit the New Orleans yard. Although naval experts have recommended the closing of this yard, Mr. Daniels thinks it can be used in the repair of lighter draft vessels.

KRUPP EMPLOYEES ARE FOUND GUILTY IN GERMANY

Eckius and Brandt Convicted on Corruption Charges—Directors May be Prosecuted.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Sentence on charges of bribery of Government officials, was pronounced today on Otto Eckius and Maximilian Brandt, former employees of the Krupp armament firm, who have been on trial since Oct. 23. Eckius was fined $300 and Brandt condemned to four months' imprisonment, which he has already served, as he was detained for that period while awaiting trial. The charges arose out of a declaration by Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist deputy in the Imperial Parliament, that corruption was prevalent among German army officials.

Several army officials and ordinance department clerks were convicted by court-martial in August of receiving bribes for giving secret information to Krupp's representatives in regard to pending armament contracts, and it is reported that other experts are being sought. Further proceedings are hinted at against several directors and former directors of Krupp, who are accused of possessing knowledge of the system of obtaining information from Government officials.

A very little knowledge shows the absurdity of this last proposition. Napoleon seems to have suffered somewhat from epileptic spasms, and he played a rather large part in the world. Mohammed was an epileptic; his earlier "suras" or revelations were all given out during seizures which would be diagnosed today as epileptic convulsions. Yet Mohammed has been called, not without reason, the greatest example of the individual in all human history; and 200,000,000 people guide their lives by precepts which half-baked reformers would brush aside as the ravings of disease.—Chicago Journal.

SIX TONS OF CEMENT IN TREE FILLING

A fine example of tree surgery, the modern method of preservation of large trees, is in evidence at the summer estate of C. Clifton Sturges at Little Harbor. Here there is a beautiful old oak tree in front of the cottage and time had begun to tell on its main trunk and decay had set in so badly that it was feared the tree would have to be cut down. Mr. Sturges was loath to part with the fine old tree and he called a tree surgeon from Boston. He stated that the tree could be saved for a great many years and he was given the commission.

One side of the trunk was to be shaped and this was all cleaned out and all of the decayed wood removed. This left the tree hollow for twenty feet and this was filled with cement, in all six tons being used. The tree was then otherwise trimmed and today it looks good for another century.

A large pine tree on the Carey estate was also treated in a similar manner, but of course nowhere near as much cement was used.

PRINCIPAL AMEN OF EXETER DEAD

Principal Harlan P. Amen of the Phillips Academy died on Sunday afternoon at 2:15 after an illness of but twenty-four hours.

He was found unconscious by a telephone at his residence Saturday noon, and it was supposed that he was attempting to call a physician. It was given out that it was acute indigestion but he gradually grew worse and Saturday night his condition was pronounced as critical. Sunday he sank rapidly and died at 2:15.

Owing to his illness the celebration of the team victory over Andover was held in Exeter, and the entire academy was cast down by his illness.

ACTORS AND THE INCOME TAX

There will be no commutation along the Rialto when it becomes known that the box office will have to withhold the income tax on actors' contracts exceeding $3000 annually. This is the interpretation placed on the new income law by Treasury Department officials, in response to inquiries from theatrical managers. In the case of proceeding will be somewhat altered. Their salaries are paid weekly by different managers and the performers themselves will have to make personal returns if liable for the tax. The actor does not come within the provision of the law which allows certain professional people, who cannot determine their incomes for a stipulated period and who receive their revenues from different sources in various amounts, to make personal returns.

WASHBURN-WHIDDEN.

Cards were received here last week announcing the marriage of Miss C. S. Whidden of this city and Col. William N. Washburn of Pasadena, Cal. The wedding ceremony took place at Bernardino, Cal., on Nov. 1.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. Badger, wife of Mayor D. W. Badger, and she has been east on an extended visit and Col. Washburn came on to escort her home and they were married on their arrival in California. The groom is a retired business man with extensive real estate holdings in California.

SENATOR GALLINGER GIVEN WARM GREETING

Washington, Nov. 9.—Senator Gallinger returned to Washington Saturday after a visit to New Hampshire. He is in the best of health and spirits and at once resumed his place in the senate as minority floor leader.

The senator's own assertions and his appearance are alike perfect contradictions of the recent statements so freely circulated, to the effect that he was critically ill. When he entered the senate chamber he was immediately surrounded by friends who grasped his hands and expressed great satisfaction that the reports of his illness had been without foundation. Politics played no part in this friendly demonstration for there were many Democrats in the group, and even Senator Volstead, the most aggressive of the Progressives, was seen in the foremost rank.

Senator Gallinger later commented on the recent elections, saying he saw no reason to be dissatisfied with the results, as the Republicans gained more than they lost. Referring to the political situation in New Hampshire, the senator said he found it to be in a very satisfactory condition, and expressed himself as "fully convinced" that the Republicans would return to power at the next election. In reply to the question as to whether or not he would accept the earnest request of many of his constituents and be a candidate to succeed himself, Senator Gallinger replied: "There are other more serious matters claiming my attention just now. The matter of my being a candidate will be taken up by me and fully considered at the proper time."

Portsmouth, N. H., Monday, November 10, 1913.

Of What Use Is the Curfew?

Portsmouth has a curfew law and has for many years maintained the ancient custom of ringing the curfew bell at 9 o'clock as a warning to the young that it was time for them to seek their homes. That the warning and the law are totally unheeded it is evident every night when groups of young boys and girls are to be seen on our streets at a much later hour acting in a boisterous manner. Only a few evenings ago our attention was called to a group of boys, several of whom wore knee trousers, that were sitting astride a fence in the compact part of the city. The lads in question were pounding their heels on the fence and making all the noise possible. It finally became so unbearable that the lady of the house went out and spoke to the boys, but was only greeted with jeers. It is a well known fact that parents of some young children allow them to roam in the streets at a late hour at night when they should be at home. If we are to have a curfew law, would it not be well to enforce it?

Christmas Coming.

We have two advance notices of the coming Christmas holidays. The Woman's Shopping League has had moving picture films prepared, to be shown all over the country, asking people to do their Christmas shopping early in December, and the arrival of toy-laden ships from Germany in New York calls sharply the attention of the people to the preparations for the greatest of holidays. While the American mind has been occupied with the Fourth of July, base ball and other things associated with summer, patient fingers in that far-away land have been busy fabricating the charming nothings which will delight American children under the glamour of the Christmas tree. And now the fruit of their toil and ingenuity is beginning to pass through the custom houses in huge cargoes, which will soon be distributed among the toy stores and thence pass into the possession of eager little ones in thousands of homes.—Scranton Times.

The Income Tax.

The income tax law is at present a very vexatious matter, for it interferes with a man who gets $3,000 or $4,000 at every turn, and for all violations, through willfulness or ignorance, he is subject both to imprisonment and fine. As willing and desirous as he may be to pay his tax, he is going to have serious trouble in doing so. Then there is a certain sort of injustice in the law. Here is a member of the United States Supreme Court who gets $14,500 a year, or a state officer who gets $7,000—they pay no income tax, while some young fellow who has scraped up enough money to start a shop and employ forty men and earn an income of $3,500, he has to pay the income tax. There is nothing fair about that. Thus the official function rakes the chestnuts out of the fire, but all for itself.—Columbus (Ohio) State Journal.

Red Cross Home.

The proposed home of the American Red Cross at Washington, designed as a memorial to the women of the Civil war, is making hopeful progress toward realization. The appropriation of $400,000 for the building, by Congress, has left $300,000 to be raised by the Red Cross. A third of that is assured by the gift of a hundred thousand from James A. Scrymgeour of New York, while Jacob Schiff has given a like amount for a "town and country nursing fund." The establishment of the home would strengthen and co-ordinate the various activities of the Red Cross Society, and the ball has been so hopefully started that it is likely to keep on rolling until the desired sum is obtained.—Boston Transcript.

Principal Harlan P. Amen.

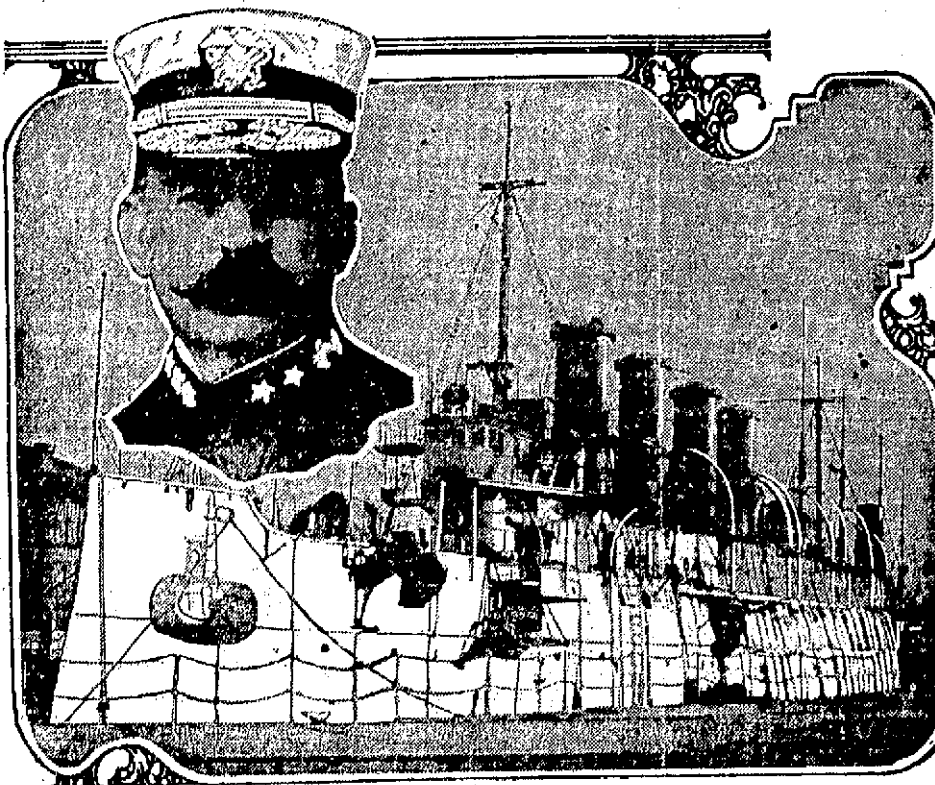

In the death of Principal Harlan P. Amen of Phillips-Exeter Academy on Sunday, that institution has sustained a severe loss. He was recognized as one of America's foremost educators and under his management the school took high rank, and his abilities became widely known. Principal Amen enjoyed the confidence of the scholars and his death will be deeply deplored by the student body.

Mr. Mellen's Friends Were Not Mistaken.

The friends of Charles S. Mellen have never doubted his position in the New England railroad war and his published interview on Sunday is another indication that they have been right. Mr. Mellen has been a much abused man. The public are satisfied of that fact and are also well satisfied that he did not have anything to do with the financial management of the properties.

And now Congressman Gardner says he will try to be governor of the Bay State in 1914. He evidently believes in taking time by the forelock.

Commander of United States Fleet In Mexican Waters And Famous Ship That Will Be Sent to Aid Him.

Rear Admiral Fletcher is in command of the United States fleet now in Mexican waters. His squadron is rapidly increasing in size. One of the vessels which is being prepared to send to him at Vera Cruz is the famous sea warrior, the U. S. S. Brooklyn. The Brooklyn in her day was the fastest ship in the navy. She was Admiral Schley's flagship at the battle of Santiago. She is now at the League Island navy yard at Philadelphia, where she was recently equipped with a new battery of thirteen inch guns.

superintendence and the welding of all parts of the transportation system under one head as the economic good of the community, and I still believe in the policy. Evidently the people in the community served agreed with me, and even the Massachusetts legislature continued all our purchases.

Mellen Only Operating Head

"But at that I was simply the operating head of the road. The fight was between the banking interests—between New York on one side and Boston on the other.

"Just to show you how much I had to do with the financing of the road I will tell you a little incident that happened a few years ago. I was traveling on the road one day when I happened to meet a representative of one of Boston's biggest banking houses.

"As a sole issue was being contemplated by the New Haven, I talked with this man about the price of money and what the rate of interest we should probably have to pay on the notes.

"A day or two later I was called up on the carpet by representatives of our fiscal agency and told in effect to mind my own business. 'When the New Haven wants money we will furnish it,' they said, 'and we won't need advice.'

"We were not on our policy of expansion because we were in the right, and because we had the power. But the fight had made too much noise. The public were aroused and demanded to know the facts. It was decided therefore that someone must be sacrificed; and I was the natural victim. I had borne the brunt of the attack because I was the man the public could see.

Elliott Chosen in February

"Representatives of our fiscal agency made the necessary arrangements. My position was to be filled by Mr. Elliott. I knew this in February from friends in St. Paul. My own crowd was working behind my back.

"The stockholders' protective committee was formed in Boston in the interest of the fiscal agency and dominated by them. It was simply a blind behind which my work was supposed to be investigated and condemned. As a matter of fact I was condemned in advance.

"But what is left? While I was the operating head the house of Morgan absolutely dominated the New Haven policies. J. P. Morgan is dead, but control is just as absolutely theirs today, and the second generation is working hand in glove with the Boston Machinists.

"The Boston spider's web reaches well into New York at the present time and is a large and potent factor in the whole situation. The stockholders committee with all its imposing names and with all George von L. Meyer's talk is nothing more than a marionette, wigged from the back by the Boston Machinists.

"I was not sorry to go. When I put out I breathed the first sigh of relief in ten years. I would not go back for the world. I am anxious to put myself right before the public. I want the people to judge me solely by my record as operating head of the New Haven and for nothing else. For I was responsible for nothing else. Neither Prouty or Brandeis has ever been able to find any fault with my work in this respect.

"The operation of the New Haven and its physical condition have been declared by the public experts to be equal to the best in the country.

Accidents Due to Men

"The accidents which have happened were not due to any defect in the road but were due solely to the breaking down of the men employed; which of course was wholly beyond my control.

"Why did I resign when I did not, why was the dividend reduced? The answer to one question answers the other. I resigned because, I knew I was to be dropped by the men who were responsible for the financial policy of the New Haven for the past ten years.

Why Dividend Was Cut

"The dividend was reduced, because knowing that I was to be dropped knowing that the board had turned its back on me, knowing that there were two criminal indictments hanging over my head for which this board was at much responsible, and knowing that the members of my family were breaking down under the strain, knowing that the wild hur and cry of the newspapers were demoralizing the operating force of the railroad, I was unable to keep expenses down to the normal rate.

"Up to December 1912 there was no reason for cutting the dividend. At that time I had never looked forward with greater confidence to the future of the New Haven. We were earning more than enough to pay the dividend. We were earning more than ever before in the history of the company.

"But then came the Grand Trunk indictment. This was a terrible shock to me and to my family. But if at that time the directors of the New Haven would not have had to cut the eight per cent dividend this year.

"I learned in February that I was to go although I did not know the date. But I could not jump the game. I had to stay. I would not 'weech.' I had planned to stay until the annual meeting. I expected to go before the annual meeting and tell the stockholders why I had to go out. But I could not do this. I had too many friends on the board of directors. I could not separate the sheep from the goats.

"So I tendered my resignation in due time. But I resented again. That until the Grand Trunk indictment came and until I knew that the directors had deserted me to save themselves, the New Haven dividend was in no immediate danger, and was in fact being earned by a larger margin of safety than at any time since I had charge of the road.

Excessive Salaries for Officials

"I believe that the paying of tremendous salaries to corporation officials is a waste of money. I believe that no man in the country is worth more than $25,000 per year; and I know that I would have worked fully as hard for the New Haven road for $25,000 as I did for the $50,000 or $75,000. The payment of more than $25,000 per year is simply levying an unjust tax upon the public, which must pay this larger salary at increased rates.

"This matter of large salaries will probably soon come before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and before many years the commission will be given the power to veto exorbitant salaries. Of course any man is human enough to take all the salary that is given him. But that does not alter the fact that he cannot earn for any corporation more than $25,000 a year.

"We bought the Boston & Maine purely as a feeder to the New Haven. The purchase was approved by the New Haven directors, and as you know has been since approved by the Massachusetts legislature.

Stands By B & M Purchase

"Now that I am out of the game and have no ax to grind I still maintain that the purchase of the Boston and Maine was made in good faith, and was done for the economic good of New England. The two roads are not competitive, and under one management it was our plan simply to have the duplication of high salaries of management and clerical forces; and bring about the best possible interchange of service between the two roads for the good of the public and for the more profitable operation of the combined system.

"It is true that the Boston & Maine was not in good condition. The management made no increase in capacity to provide for increased business. The road was simply left in as good condition at the end of the year as it was at the beginning.

"As a result increased business overtaxed the capacity of the road. New Haven has been in a position to carry 20 to 25 per cent increase of business without congestion. But a ten per cent increase in the business of the Boston and Maine threw the road into a fl.

"My most bitter critics will admit that the New Haven road is a most excellently operated affair from a railroad standpoint. No road in the country is in better condition physically; not even the Pennsylvania. The physical condition of the road was not responsible for the accidents.

"No responsibility in my judgment is necessary for the Boston and Maine. It is not a difficult matter to provide for its maturing necessities if once the property is put on its feet as an operating proposition, and increased net earnings how a margin for further capitalization and refunding.

Trolleys Bought for Feeders

"We bought the trolleys not because we desired a monopoly, but because they were natural feeders of New Haven traffic, and because in our big plans for the electrification of the steam road the development of power for both trolley and steam lines should be carried on most economically. It is over the trolleys that our biggest fight was brought on.

"The trolley interests of Boston declared to monopolize this field of enterprise in New England, and they set the public by the ears with the cry of 'New Haven Monopoly.' What difference does it really make to the public whether the New Haven runs the trolleys or whether they are run by a trolley company? Under New Haven ownership they have been as ably conducted and have given as good and economical service as could be given under any other management.

"The trolleys owned by the New Haven have been with one exception as profitable as the Boston Elevated. If the trolley lines are held they will prove big money-makers for the New Haven.

Government Ownership Coming

"The railroads will all go under government ownership. It is coming.

CURRENT OPINION

Pay Heed to Signals of Distress Coming From Our Decadent Society of Today.

There was the same indecency in woman's dress, the same indecent dances in Rome during Nero's rule—certain dances were almost worshipped by the people—and there is the same extraordinary and demoralizing cult in the United States today.

Among other national sins are the gross corruption of our cities, the idle rich, the greed of employers, social injustice, anarchism and socialism, speculations in bread and meat, the tide of divorce, the depth of infamy into which the drama has sunk here in New York and in many other cities, intemperance and child slavery.

These are the sins of the United States. They were the sins of Rome. It is well enough to hold mass meetings to consider and protest against such evils and to memorialize congress about them, but in my opinion the greatest force of all, the heaven which shall lift the entire nation, is personal example.

If every one of the thirty millions affiliated with churches in America be as genuine as they profess to be the force of their example would be the best answer to the signal of distress—the "S O S" call which has come from the ship of society.

I believe that personal example, personal purity, personal honesty, are the only forces which can deal adequately with the situation. All that is necessary is for professed Christians to become real Christians and the heaven of their lives will lift the world. Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim of the Church of the Epiphany of Washington, D. C.

quickly. Five years ago I felt that I would not live to see it. But now I think I shall. The regulation by the government during the past ten years has tended to lower the value of railroad stocks in investments.

"There is not the big money in railroads that there used to be. There will not be any great opposition to government ownership when the time arrives, because private capital will find the field unprofitable as a result of too strict legislation.

"But under government ownership trains will still be late, wrecks will occur, and malls will be misused and lost in just as large proportion as they are today. Under government ownership, however, a man will simply have to stand it and swear. His kicking will do no good."

MR. ELLIOTT'S STATEMENT

Chairman Says He Did Not Know Until July That He Was To Join New Haven Road

"I did not see the statement of Mr. Charles S. Mellen until about 8 o'clock this evening," said Howard Elliott, president of the New Haven road, last evening. "This statement or interview has evidently been prepared with great care. Any extent of comment upon it would likewise take considerable care and some little time. Much of the statement refers to happenings on and policy of the road prior to my becoming an officer which was on Sept. 1, 1913."

"I believe it is not my place of my duty to comment on the past relations of the road with various banking houses or upon past transactions. In the short time I have been here I have seen many indications that the banking houses of both Boston and New York are anxious to help the New England railroad situation in every way that they can.

"As to the trolleys the Boston and Maine railroad, the steamships and any other outside purchases, I desire to state again that all these matters are under the most careful investigation by committees of the directors and by technical experts who will give to the directors information independent of the officers."

"It may be of interest to state here that of the board as it is now constituted, a majority has been elected since the last trolley purchases and since the last steamship purchases except in the case of the New Bedford & Martha's Vineyard Line."

Mr. Elliott said that the impression might be given by Mr. Mellen's statement that Mr. Elliott knew in February that he was to join the New Haven board, but this he declares false, but also declares that he knows Mr. Mellen would not make a misstatement about him.

He continued: "No one having a financial interest in the New Haven road, or having any right to speak for the property ever suggested any coming here until about the middle of July, when I was asked to meet Mr. Vail and the committee of directors, who had, I am told, several names under consideration in addition to mine. So a little did I consider the rumor connecting my name with the New Haven road that last spring I renewed the lease on my house in St. Paul, to November 1, 1914, and I must pay the rent until that date unless I am fortunate enough to sublet the house which is doubtful.

"Then during the winter Mr. Elliott and I completed the plans for a house in St. Paul and the detail drawing the specifications and the contracts were all prepared and bids were to be taken in July so that the house would be finished in the following spring or summer.

"I was in New York about July 7, to arrange a loan of $10,000,000 for the Northern Pacific and even as late as that time nothing was said to me by anyone in authority that Mr. Mellen was to retire and that I was to be asked to come east.

"On my return to St. Paul I was just starting on a six week trip to the Pacific coast, about July 12 when I was asked to come to New York to confer with a committee of New Haven directors. I found the directors anxious for a prompt decision. And Mrs. Elliott and I only came to a conclusion in the matter on the day of my election.

HUNTER FATALLY SHOT BY FARMER

Dispute Arises Over Traps Set on Land of Slayer.

West Haven, Vt., Nov. 9.—Charles Gordon, fisherman and hunter, was shot fatally today during a dispute with William Koch over some traps, which Gordon had set on Koch's farm in this town. Gordon died on his way to the hospital after Koch had summoned three physicians by special train from Whitehall, N. Y., to attend him. Koch was arrested.

Gordon, who was 33 years old, lived alone in a house boat on the New York shore of Lake Champlain. When he rowed across to the Vermont side today to examine some of his traps, Koch's farm the owner of the farm, who was formerly a New York game warden, discovered him and ordered him off the premises. In the quarrel which followed, Gordon received a .38-caliber revolver bullet in the back.

As soon as Koch saw that Gordon was seriously wounded, he telephoned to Whitehall for physicians and had a special train provided for them. Meanwhile Gordon at his own request had been conveyed in a row boat to his house boat which was nearly a mile away across the lake.

When the three doctors from Whitehall arrived, they found the condition of the wounded man desperate. At Koch's request that everything possible be done to get Gordon to a hospital, a yacht was chartered to tow the house boat to Whitehall, but Gordon died before the goal was reached.

Koch was removed to the house of correction in Rutland tonight, after State Attorney B. L. Stafford and deputy sheriffs had examined him. He is a prosperous farmer, 35 years old, and had a wife and two children. He formerly lived in Whitehall.

Gordon was not married. His mother and four brothers survive him.

Koch admitted the shooting, but said it was accidental.

He had remonstrated with Gordon against setting traps in his game pre-

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

They Love To Take it and it Doesn't Harm the Tender Little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated it is a sure sign the little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat, or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged-up constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know the action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know that a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of California Syrup of Figs which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine made by the California Fig Syrup Company. Don't be fooled.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 9.—Crippling transportation facilities and prostrating the wire communications over a wide area an extraordinary snow, sleet and wind storm visited this section of the country today and continues tonight.

During the day ten inches of snow fell, four inches more than fell during any November since 1886. The barometer registered 29.06 or about one-tenth below normal and this incident of the storm is viewed as remarkable by the local officials of the United States weather bureau.

Throughout the day the gale blew 40 miles an hour while the temperature dropped from 48 to 22 degrees in less than 5 hours.

Preceded by heavy rains Friday and Saturday, snow began falling at three this morning.

Shortly after noon the Western Union Telegraph Company reported all wires down to New York, Columbus and Cleveland. The Postal Telegraph Company was tied up by the storm to all points from here. Telephone wires to the outside were useless.

Tonight the Western Union succeeded in making up a wire circuit to the principal cities east of Pittsburgh and west to Chicago, and Louisville, Ky. But one wire however, was working to Cleveland. Later in the night this failed, cutting the Ohio city off from all outside communication.

Some of the fall styles are extreme, many of them charming and all of them interesting. But following the trend of the season one wonders what the dressmakers will do next to create a sensation.

The stores are very interesting places these days—and the store scouts in far away fashion circles will be the first to catch the newest whisper.

The first news will probably come in the advertising columns and there will be keen competition for the "beat."

JOSEPH SCHURMAN APPOINTED LICENSE INSPECTOR

Charles R. Pearson Sealer of Weights and Measures -- Judge Plummer Elevated to Supreme Court Bench.

At a meeting of the governor and council Saturday, Judge William A. Plummer of Litchfield, of the superior court, was elevated to the vacancy in the supreme court, and made an associate justice of that court. This is the place that is said to be greatly desired by Judge Plummer. William H. Sawyer, Harry Blumhagen of Littleton was appointed a judge of probate for the county of Grafton.

Allen G. Kelly was appointed judge of the Berry District police court.

Joseph Schurman of Greenland, was made a license inspector.

Charles R. Pearson of Portsmouth was appointed sealer of weights and measures for Rockingham county.

At the meeting of the governor and council late Friday afternoon, Col. Paul F. Habbidge of Keene, commanding officer of the First Infantry, N. H. National Guard, was retired at his own request, with the rank of brigadier general. With the retirement of General Habbidge comes the promotion of Lieut. Col. Harley B. Noble of Concord to the colonelcy of the First regiment.

Ter becomes lieutenant colonel, while Ter becomes lieutenant colonel, while Capt. Eugene T. Sherburne of Co. F, also of Manchester, is promoted to major. All of these officers have had long service in the National Guard, and they are most popular.

That Is, The Taste and Odor Have Been Removed

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil Is the Best Laxative in 3,000 Years

Spencer Kellogg & Sons of Buffalo, oil refiners have succeeded in taking the offensive taste and smell out of castor oil.

The Kelloggs have done what chemists have tried to do and failed for 3,000 years.

Doctors recommend Castor Oil as the simplest, safest, and best laxative. Every household will use it often now that it is tasteless.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is pure, clear, refined castor oil, and entirely without taste that children take it easily.

This perfect laxative is now on sale in all drug stores. Order Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil by name, in distinguishing it from various mixed and flavored castor oils, which are not tasteless. The trade mark is on every label—a green castor leaf bearing the signature—Kellogg's 25c and 50c sizes.

"DON'TS" FOR CHILDREN

American Museum of Safety Issues Pamphlet to Instruct Them How to Protect Themselves.

Containing many "Never's" and "Always's" a pamphlet has just been sent out by the American Museum of Safety to be distributed among families on the East Side and in Brooklyn and other sections where children are numerous, bringing home to little girls and boys the danger of not thinking when they run into the streets. It is entitled "The Little Girl Who Didn't Think," and Dr. William H. Tolman, director of the museum believes it will be a great thing toward saving child life.

The little pamphlet tells the story in picture form and prose of the terrible things that happened to children who ran into the streets when wagons and cars were about. Some of the instructions read:

"Never jump on or off a moving car."

"Never stand or sit on the car step; put your head or hands out of the car window."

"Never get off a car facing the rear. With the left hand take hold of the grip handle, left foot to the step, right foot to the ground; face forward."

"Never fall on leaving the car. Look out for passing wagons and automobiles."

"Never run in front of a passing car."

"Never hitch on and steal rides behind street cars or wagons."

"Never play on the car rails."

"Never cross a street except at a regular crossing."

"Never take chances."

"Always in passing behind a car look to see if another car, automobile or wagon is coming from the opposite direction."

"Always look both ways before crossing a street."

"Always safety."

"These instructions will be helpful for grown persons and children as well, in the opinion of Dr. Tolman."

NEW TRANSPORT FOR CANADA

Recently the Canadian Military Mission to Europe broke up in London after a month crowded with professional and other work. Colonel J. Lyons Higgan of the Permanent Force in the Dominion is a director of transport and supply in the Army Service Corps in Canada. While at the British maneuvers he devoted much of his time to observing the working of the new system which has been adopted by the War Office for supplying an army in the field by utilizing mechanical transport. He kept every day in close touch with the quartermaster general's staff who advised him each morning of the places where it would be desirable for him to be at certain hours in order to see the new system at work.

Colonel Higgan said: "We in Canada have agreed to the principle of adopting the new system, but owing to our roads being inferior to those in England we have not yet been able to put it into practice. It is hoped that we shall succeed in obtaining the services of an officer thoroughly qualified in this branch of the service, in the near future, to handle our supply in this way. We have made a beginning in the way of motor transport already. We have twelve passenger cars and four lorries, and we hope to have more before the end of the year. All our cars and lorries have been made in Canada. We chose them because we can really get spirit when they are needed."

States had given Huerta until tomorrow night to reply before making the next move was the general belief in official circles.

Will Not Recognize New Congress

The next step in the view of those who have talked with the President within the last two days since he began summoning members of the senate foreign relations committee, probably will be an announcement that the United States not only recognizing the refusal to recognize the Huerta government, but making it clear to the world that it also shall refuse to recognize any act of the new congress which is convened by Huerta.

The Washington government is understood will not undertake to guarantee any business or commercial relations with the Huerta regime and will in all probability stand by any legally constituted government which in the future may repudiate the loans or transactions of the present government.

Nobody to Take Presidency

Both Senators McCumber and Borah declined to talk on what the President had told them in their conference today, but they expressed their own views later. Senator Borah told the President that in his own opinion even should Huerta accede to the American request for his resignation at this time there would be no responsible person or persons to establish a government in his place.

The Idaho senator suggested that if the embargo on arms were lifted the constitutionalists probably could get possession of the reins of government in Mexico City probably within 30 days and that the United States ought to give them an opportunity to establish themselves. Should they fail he believes the United States might consider other steps when the contingency arises.

Favor Raising Embargo on Arms

Senator McCumber believes the embargo on arms should be raised, but realizes the position of the president he said, in being unwilling to send munitions of war into the rebellion, the United States might add to the instability of the fighting. He thinks the Huerta regime is in such financial straits that it will soon collapse of its own accord.

Senator Bacon chairman of the foreign relations committee, said that he believed a majority of the members of that committee were in favor of raising the embargo.

The suggestion that raising the embargo would be inhuman some senators have declared that such an act, on the other hand, would put an end to the revolutions in a short period and spare the country the bloodshed of an indefinitely prolonged struggle.

City of Mexico, Nov. 9.—In a formal note to the foreign diplomats General Huerta after calling attention to the efforts he has made to pacify the country and dwelling at length upon his reasons for dissolving congress, makes the direct statement that the newly elected congress will be installed within a few days and will pass upon the election of the president and vice president.

General Huerta reminds the diplomats that prior to the elections he told them that neither he nor General Blanquet would accept an election on the ground that his own election would be illegal, and he called to the attention of the diplomats the conference which he had with the presidential candidates at which he secured their promise to abide by the result of the elections, even should no one receive the necessary number of votes.

Huerta Will Continue

"Now, in view of the facts recorded in the reports which the government has received," continues the note, "that there exists an earnest presumption that, because it has been impossible to carry on voting in the number of polling places prescribed by the law, the elections fall to be considered a true manifestation of the will of the people and because it is foreseen that said presidential elections will be declared null, the executive wishes to make known once more to the country and to the whole world that in accordance with this determination he shall continue exercising himself for the pacification of the country in order to be able to guarantee absolute freedom and efficiency in the new elections which congress must call as necessary consequence."

Mexico Sees Climax

Government officials, foreign residents, and the people of Mexico realize that the relations between this country and the United States are strained almost to the breaking point, but there is perhaps no man in the entire republic who knows tonight what Washington will do tomorrow.

John Lind, himself, who represents the President of the United States, is ignorant of the intentions of his chief, and if General Huerta is anxious as all regarding what may develop he does not betray it.

Although he has sent to the diplomatic representatives of the foreign governments a note, which in effect, is a defiance of Washington, he was conspicuous in the cafes about town long after the midnight hour, and today indulged in relaxation in the company of his military friends.

Says Elections Are Null

In his formal statement to the diplomatics General Huerta said that it was not foreseen that the recent elections were null, as too few precincts had participated in the voting, and that therefore, the new congress would annul the elections. New elections would then be called and he would continue his program of pacification.

More uneasiness is apparent at the American embassy than at the national palace.

At the palace the opinion was freely expressed, not infrequently accompanied by sneers, that the United States would never intervene in Mexico.

Mr. Lind expressed the view that a waiting policy would not be continued for many days.

All the American embassy it is regarded as logical that Washington perhaps tomorrow will furnish vital developments in the relations between the two countries. This assumption is based on the Washington note to General Huerta in which Huerta is assured that refusal to comply with the American demands will result in President Wilson's applying to congress to use sterner methods and the threat to place a time limit on Huerta's continuance in office.

All Eyes on Washington

Opinions in Mexico are widely divergent as to what Washington's attitude will be now. In some quarters it is thought that President Wilson may recommend neither intervention nor direct assistance of the rebels, by means of recognition of their belligerency, but that he may issue a note to the powers setting forth that hereafter the United States will regard Mexico as a non existing nation and repudiate all her debt whether alleged illegal or otherwise.

Of these three courses Mexico officials fear most perhaps, the latter two, realizing that either would materially strengthen the rebel cause. Intervention it is believed by a majority of those in the capital, foreigners as well as Mexicans would be much more merciful and humane a method of restoring order. It is pointed out that strengthening the rebel cause would almost certainly mean the subjection of Mexico City to a long and terrible siege.

STATISTICAL RECORD OF THE PROGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES, 1800-1913.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—A century survey of the growth of the United States in population, commerce, and industry is presented in a pamphlet, "Statistical Record of the Progress of the United States, 1800-1913" just issued by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce. The publication contains monetary, commercial and financial statistics of this country and, in less detailed form, those of the principal nations of the world and the share which the United States supplies of their imports and takes of their exports.

In area the United States is shown to have increased from 362,155 square miles in 1800 to 3,620,739 in 1912, and in population from 3,929,483 in 1800, exclusive of the island territories now under the American flag. Meanwhile the production of basic articles of industry shows marked growth. Coal, from 20 tons in 1814 to 477 million in 1912; pig iron, from 54,000 tons in 1810 to 630 million in 1912; copper, from 100 tons in 1845 to 558,000 in 1912; petroleum, from 84,000 gallons in 1859 to over 9 billion gallons in 1912; cotton, from 73,000 running bales of 500 pounds each in 1800 to 14 million in 1912; wheat, from 84 million bushels in 1840 to 730 million in 1912; and corn from 378 millions bushels in 1840 to over 3 billion in 1912; while similar increases are noted in other products of agriculture, mining, and manufacture.

The tables of the pamphlet show a corresponding increase in foreign commerce; imports, from 55 million dollars in 1821 to 1,813 million in 1912, and domestic exports, from 52 million in 1821 to 2,429 million in 1912; while the share which manufactured products (including prepared foodstuffs) form of the total exports increased from less than 18 million dollars in 1821 to 1-1-2 billion dollars in 1912.

Other statistical data contained in the publication in question relate to national finance, education, agriculture, transportation, consumption of leading staples, prices, etc., comprising the principal facts, in epitomized form, to be presented in the forthcoming 1913 edition of the Statistical Abstract of the United States.

STRANGE STORY OF CRIME.

There is no stranger story in American crime annals than the careers of three extraordinary swindlers just laid by the heels after twenty years of comparative immunity. They are the operators of the wireless wire-tapping device by which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been tricked from victims the world over, and without an antidote as to prevent their dupes complaining to the police.

To Supply Ships With Fresh Meat

In order to keep the naval vessels on the east coast of Mexico supplied with fresh meats and other provisions it has been decided to send the supply ship Culgoa from New York to Vera Cruz in the next few weeks. The Culgoa is now at Norfolk, but will go to New York in a few days to obtain red cargo. This action is in line with the policy of the department of making the war vessels as far as possible independent of foreign markets.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY OF $68

Fred Willet, who claims Ellet as his home, was arrested on Saturday evening on Ceres street by officers Shannon and Kelley, charged with larceny. It is alleged that Willet went home from this city with living Hasty an aged resident of that town and on the way up in the electric cars touched Mr. Hasty for his bank roll which amounted to $68. He then started back for this city and when Mr. Hasty discovered his loss he notified the authorities and the police here made the arrest. At the station a roll of $68 was found in his underclothing. Later in the evening he was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Maurice Leach and returned to Maine.

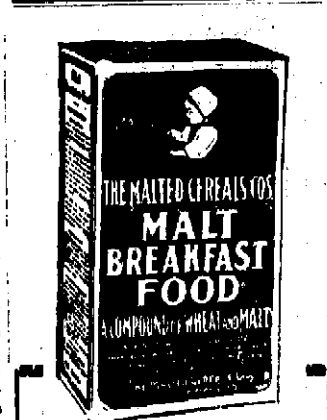

WORTH KNOWING

Sardines mashed to a pulp and seasoned with lemon juice, dry mustard, and salt make a tasty sandwich filling or a mixture to spread on rounds of bread and butter for a canape.

A delicious stuffing for roast duck is made of stewed prunes walnuts and bread crumbs. To half a pound of prunes add a cupful each of chopped English walnuts and bread crumbs and season with black pepper, salt, bay leaves, butter and minced onion. Cook the mixture in a frying pan till they are brown.

A pretty garnish for roast duck are slices of naval orange topped with currant jelly.

A LOVE AFFAIR.

It was reported today that the suicide of Private Thomas Johnson, U. S. M. C., who shot himself at the navy yard on Sunday, was due to a love affair with a well known Portsmouth young woman who had rejected him.

SAILOR ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

James Fitzgerald Took Strychnine, But Will Recover

James Fitzgerald, a member of the crew of the U. S. receiving ship Southey, attempted suicide at his home on Woodlawn avenue, Kittery, on Sunday evening by taking a grain of strychnine.

As soon as his family was aware of what had taken place, Dr. E. E. Shepleigh was summoned and on his arrival Fitzgerald was given emetics and the poison pumped out of him. The navy yard ambulance was summoned and he was later removed to the naval hospital for treatment. Today he is reported as being as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

No cause is assigned for Fitzgerald's rash act.

Religion in the Navy

Neglect of religion by the United States in its navy is a serious matter, Secretary Daniels declared in a address before the United States Association of Men's Bible classes. The secretary announced he would ask congress to immediately provide chaplains and welfare secretaries for the navy's personnel.

Twenty-four chaplains he said are all the government can provide for the navy's 67,000 men while the Marine Corps with an enlistment of 2,226 men has not a single chaplain.

"I do not expect congress to authorize the appointment of enough chaplains to assign one to every ship," Mr. Daniels said "but I do believe the number will be substantially increased, and I shall urge that Congress authorize a sufficient number to enable the Secretary to engage enough capable young religious leaders to assign every ship there will be either a chaplain or a welfare secretary."
